

ELISEU SAVÉRIO SPOSITO

São Paulo State University - Department of "Geography"

Professor of Human Geography

---

INSTITUTIONAL ROLES

Ex-president of Brazilian Geographers Association, Presidente Prudente section; editor: Terra Livre, Caderno Prudentino de Geografia and Geografia em Atos scientific revues. Ex-coordinator of Geography PhD Program in FCT/São Paulo State University

ACADEMIC CAREER

He is graduated in Geography and teaches Scientific Methodology and Geography of Brazil in the Faculty of Sciences and Technology, São Paulo State University, where he has been professor since 2007 and where he has worked since 1980. Master and PhD completed at São Paulo University (USP). Fez concurso de Livre Docência na FCT/UNESP em 2000. He teaches and is responsible for PhD and Master courses. He was visiting professor in the University of Salamanca (Spain). He is the leader of the GASPERR (Grupo de Pesquisa Produção do Espaço e Redefinições Regionais). He was editor of Revista Terra Livre, Caderno Prudentino de Geografia and Revista Geografia em Atos. Leader of thematic project "The new map of industry on the beginning of the XXI century. Different paradigms for territorial understanding of economic dynamics in São Paulo State" and is member of the Researchers' Network on Middle Cities (ReCiMe). CNP researcher with the theme "Territorial dynamics, flows and development axes: an approach by middle cities". He has experience in Urban and Economic Geography, Teaching and Methodology of Geography, and works on the following themes: geographical thought, territory, industrialization, and globalization.