

FLORIANA GALLUCCIO

“L'Orientale” University of Naples - Department of “Human and Social Sciences”

Researcher in Human Geography

---

ACADEMIC CAREER

She teaches “Human Geography” in the degree course in “Linguistic and Cultural Mediation” and “Theory, Methods and Languages of Geography” in the II level degree course in “Linguistics and Specialist Translation”, at the University of Naples “L’Orientale”. PhD in “Territorial Application of Geography” (University “La Sapienza”), she achieved the post-doctoral fellowship at the University of “RomaTre”. She has won scholarships for foreign countries (MIUR), FORMEZ, the Italian Institute for Philosophical Studies, the University Institute Suor Orsola Benincasa of Naples, the CNR. In 2006 she was member of the Scientific Committee for the creation of a website and scientific responsible for the Cartography Section on the occasion of the Bicentenary Exhibition of the foundation of the Province of Naples (2006). She was a visiting professor (2008) at the EHESS in Paris, where she held a series of seminars. She is member of the Scientific Committee of the publishing series “Attraversamenti”/Il Melangolo, Genoa, Italy.