

GIOVANNI GIURIATI

University “La Sapienza” of Rome - Department of “Documentary, linguistic-philological and geographical sciences”

Full Professor in ethnomusicology

ACADEMIC CAREER

Giovanni Giuriati, degree in Letters at the Università di Roma "La Sapienza" and Ph.D. in ethnomusicology at the University of Maryland. Professor of History of Music at the Conservatory from 1988 to 1993, he is currently full professor in Ethnomusicology at the Università di Roma "La Sapienza". President of the Corso di laurea magistrale in Musicology from 2010, he was Coordinator of the doctoral program in Storia e analisi delle culture musicali from 2005 to 2011. Director of the Intercultural Institute for Comparative Music Studies, Fondazione Giorgio Cini in Venice, he was member of the Scientific committee of the Archivi di etnomusicologia of the Accademia Nazionale di S.Cecilia and, from 2005 to 2008 President of the European Seminar in Ethnomusicology. He has carried out research in Cambodia, Bali, Indonesia and on Italian folk music with special reference to the region around Naples with funds from the Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, the Ministry of Education and Research (MIUR), and the Ministry of Foreign affairs (MAE). Other research interests are the instrumental music and the relationship between music and feast in the Campania region. He is currently Coordinator of a PRIN Project of the Italian Ministry of Education, University and Research (MIUR) that involves six Italian Universities, and is member of the Advisory board of the Ashgate-SOAS Series in Ethnomusicology.