

OXANA KLIMANOVA

Lomonosov Moscow State University, Department of Geography

---

INSTITUTIONAL ROLES

Associate Professor in Geography and Environmental Studies

---

MAIN RESEARCH INTERESTS

Urban geography, Regional environmental studies, Ecosystem Services, Landscape and Urban Planning

ACADEMIC CAREER

Oxana Klimanova is Associate Professor of Geography at the Lomonosov Moscow State University since 2009. She teaches “World Physical Geography”, “Urban ecology”, “Environmental Management and Policy” and “The Mediterranean: geography, population and culture”. She is member of Commission on Geographical Education of Russian Geographical Society since 2018. She is one of the authors of Professional Standard of Geographer for Ministry of Labour of Russian Federation. Also she is the author of Textbook on Geography for Secondary School (5th 6th and 7th years of education). During several years she has been a member of Scientific Council of Geographical Competition for Schoolchildren.

During scientific career she has been Scientific Responsible of many research grant and research projects on landscape and urban planning, recreation and tourism and assessment of ecosystem services. She has been speaker and chairman at about 50 meetings, seminars and national and international conferences, and has taken part in the organisation of several events at national and international level.