

Sandra Leonardi

Sapienza University of Rome. Department of Letters and modern cultures

ISTITUTIONAL ROLES

National Councilor of the Italian Association of Geography Teachers

MAIN RESEARCH INTERESTS

historical cartography, historical geography, visual geography, processes of emergence and enhancement of geo-documentary and cartographic assets

ACADEMIC CAREER

Sandra Leonardi is Assistant Professor (art. 24 c.3-b Law 240/10) at the Department of Letters and modern cultures - Sapienza University of Rome. She is qualified as Second Level Professor (SSD: MGGR / 01) – Geography at National Scientific Abilitation.

She teaches 'General Geography' for the three-year degree course in Humanities and 'Sustainable Tourism and territorial enhancement' for the Master's degree course in Territory's management and enhancement at the Faculty of Letters. She was a research fellow in the field of knowledge capitalization and organization processes in the geographical field. PhD in Historical Geography, he taught Economic Political Geography at the Tuscia - University of Viterbo. At the same University held courses in Geography for the Faculty of Cultural Heritage. She has collaborated with geographic magazines, she was editor in chief of Semestrare di studi e ricerche di geografia "Class A" scientific journals. Now she is Director of the magazine Ambiente Società Territorio - Geography in schools.

Researcher unique identifier(s): orcid.org/0000-0002-5865-6884