

TIZIANA BANINI

Sapienza University of Rome - Department of Documentary, linguistic-philologic and geographic sciences

Associate Professor of Geography

ISTITUTIONAL ROLES

Head of the Master Degree Course in Management and Valorization of the Territory. National Coordinator of the A.Ge.I. (Association of Italian Geographers) Research Group "Territorial Identity".

ACADEMIC CAREER

Associate Professor of Geography, at Sapienza University of Rome (since 2001). Assistant Professor of Geography at the University of Udine (1996-2001). Post-PhD in Geography of metropolitan areas (1995). PhD in Geography (1993).

Head of the Graduate Course in Management and Valorization of the Territory (since 2009). Scientific coordinator of several regional, national and international research groups (since 1998).

Current teaching: Environmental Geography (undergraduate degree courses), Cultural Geography (master degree courses).

She has participated in several national and international congress (as rapporteur) and research groups. She's a member of both the editorial board of geographical journals and the scientific committee of book series.

MAIN RESEARCH INTERESTS

Territorial identity, socio-environmental integration processes, valorization of marginal areas, participated local development.